Some key questions we will be in dialogue about:

- What big and small wake-up calls have turned your life in new directions?
- When in your spiritual journey did you become aware that there was more to you than you thought?
- When did you wake up to systemic injustices around you, and how did it affect your life?

Nancy Thurston knows something about learning to listen to inner wisdom and tackling challenging conversations. For over three decades, Nancy has sought to know the deeper parts of herself and to understand injustice through study, action and leadership. Along the way, Nancy discovered that the way to change the system was to change her own life.

Join Nancy as she shares excerpts from her memoir, Big Topics at Midnight: A Texas Girl Wakes up To Race, Class, Gender and Herself, and engage in dialogue about what is waking up in you.
